Subject: UPDATE: Consent form template updated
Attachments: December 2015 revisions to Costs section.docx; UofCcfemplate 12 2015.doc

Dear IRB Contacts,

Please note that the Office of Clinical Research (OCR) has revised template language for the “What are the Costs” section of the consent form for all Clinical Trials conducted here at the University of Chicago. This new template language will be required for all new IRB submissions submitted for the January 11, 2016 new protocol deadline and thereafter. The changes are noted in the attached Word document. Please be sure to forward this language to all currently active sponsors.

The IRB office has incorporated this new language into the current consent form template under the “What Are The Costs” section. The revised template version is dated December 2015 and is attached here. The revised template is also available on the IRB website at <http://bsdirb.bsd.uchicago.edu/forms-guidelines/index.html#consent>

Please contact our office with any questions.

Thank you.
